Dental Office Interiors 101

How do you convey the quality of care that your practice provides?

What kind of an image does your office convey and is it congruent with the quality of care that you provide?

There is one room in particular that gets noticed and evaluated more than you might guess-by staff as well as patients.

Using clean details, renewable materials and creating ADA accessibility sends a message about your practice and the importance that you place on quality, cleanliness and attention to detail.

Are you sending the right message?
